MICHAEL L. YAMZON, Lt Col, USAF
Commander
Welcome to Vandenberg Air Force Base and the 532d Training Squadron (532 TRS)! The 532 TRS trains approximately 350 Air Force Nuclear and Missile Operations students each fiscal year.

During your time here, you will be assigned to a class of between 3 and 12 students to complete your ICBM Operations Initial Skills Training (IST). The IST for ICBM Operations is a challenging 100 academic day course. Your days, evenings and many weekends will be consumed with academics, study, mission preparation, simulator practice rides and testing.

Your first duty station will be determined at the end of your first week and may be either the 341st Missile Wing at Malmstrom AFB, Montana, the 90th Missile Wing at FE Warren AFB, Wyoming or the 91st Missing Wing at Minot AFB, North Dakota. Halfway through the program you will find out which squadron you will be assigned to.

At the end of this program, you and your classmates will have developed lifelong relationships and together, you will join an elite corps of ICBM Operators.

Our Student Support Officer developed this welcome packet to help facilitate your transition to Vandenberg AFB and the ICBM training environment; so, please read it carefully as many of your questions may be answered within.

We look forward to seeing you soon.

Expectations

1. Responsibilities. Until you begin your Initial Skills Training, you will be on casual status. Your first responsibility while on casual status is to complete in-processing. Once you check-in with the 532 TRS/DOA Flight Commander in building 8250, room 100, you will be provided a checklist which will outline the in-processing steps.

2. Casual Status. While on casual status, you will be referred to as a “Casual Lieutenant”. The amount of time spent as a Casual Lieutenant is dictated by the status of your security clearance and your date of arrival on station. You will be assigned a casual job that will allow you to contribute to the base as a whole while you await a class start date. You are expected to report to your casual job on time and do your best to proactively assist those around you.

3. Accountability. The duty day is from 0730 to 1630 unless directed otherwise by your immediate supervisor while on casual status or your instructor while a student.

4. Uniform Wear. Wearing the Air Force uniform means carrying on a tradition – one that identifies the individual as a member of the profession of arms. As an officer in the U.S. Air Force, your dress and appearance should never be brought into question. The Uniform of the Day (UOD) is ABUs unless otherwise instructed.

5. Core Values. You are an officer 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Therefore, living the Air Force Core Values should not be limited to work hours only. The Core Values should be present in all aspects of your life and should define how you behave when interacting with others and confronting challenges in both your work and leisure environments.
Before You Arrive

1. Contact the Vandenberg Lodge (805-606-1844) to reserve a room while you are in-processing and house hunting. Reservations can be made up to one year in advance. You can stay at the Vandenberg Lodge for up to 30 days, if space is available. The Air Force will reimburse you for up to 10 days of accommodations.

You must check in with the lodging office before making any arrangements to stay in off-base hotels. If the Vandenberg Lodge does not have any availability, they will provide you with a Non-Availability Letter which will be required for reimbursement of off-base lodging costs.
